Yale Society of Physics Students recognized as an Outstanding SPS Chapter

The Yale University chapter of the Society of Physics Students (SPS) has won an Outstanding Chapter Award from the SPS National Office. This is the second time the chapter has been recognized for its excellence as a top-tier student-led physical sciences organization, a designation given to fewer than 15 percent of all SPS chapters at colleges and universities in the United States and internationally.

Spring 2022 Semester Updates

Update on Plans for the Spring Semester

For undergraduates and GSAS students, the spring semester will begin on Tuesday, January 25, 2022. January 18-21 will be used, instead, for make-up exams, which will be administered online. To accommodate this one-week delay, spring break will be shortened by one week, and it will begin on the evening of March 18 and end on the morning of March 28.

Yale College and GSAS courses will be taught online from January 25 through February 4. Undergraduates and graduate students may return to their on-campus housing starting on January 14 and no later than February 4. Students may delay their arrival to campus, especially during the make-up exam period, if their circumstances permit.
