

HISTORY & FOUNDATIONS OF PHYSICS

COMPUTER SIMULATIONS & THE TRADING ZONE

MEETING 4.2

TUESDAY, MARCH 26TH - 5:30 PM
KLINE TOWER, ROOM 401

Dinner and refreshments will be served.

DISCUSSING TEXT BY PETER GALISON

What arises from computer simulations when they are viewed as a 'trading zone' – an interdisciplinary space where different scientific cultures converge to exchange ideas, tools, and methodologies?

How do these interactions foster the development of new languages, understandings, and fields of study?

Yale
Dept. of Physics

FRANKE PROGRAM
in Science
& the Humanities

For suggested readings and further details.

